Passenger revenues for the month were better than budget primarily due to higher average fare per passenger, with ridership tracking close to projections (less than one-tenth of one percent below forecast). Toll revenues for the month were favorable to the budget, reflecting higher than forecasted traffic volume (10% above forecast).

¹ Includes Farebox Revenue, Toll Revenue and Other Operating Revenue.

² Operating Subsidies are for January 2023, while subsidy results provided later in this report are for February 2023. Does not include State and Local Operating Assistance, Station Maintenance, City Subsidies for MTA Bus and Staten Island Railway, CDOT Subsidy for Metro-North Railroad, and Other Subsidy Adjustments.

The 2023 Adopted Budget Forecast is based on the midpoint between the “high case” and “low case” scenarios prepared by McKinsey & Co. this past spring. While exceeding the McKinsey projections, passenger revenues remain significantly below pre-pandemic levels: January passenger revenues were $137 million (28%) below January 2019. Toll revenue, when adjusted to account for the 2021 toll increase, is higher by $22 million (14%).

FMTAC	(2.0)	4.0	6.0	151.0%
Total	$1,259.0	$1,299.7	$40.8	3.1%

Preliminary expenses for January were favorable by $41 million (3%). In addition to favorable results stemming from vacancies at the operating agencies and MTA HQ, favorable results reflect lower credit card processing fees and lower professional service contracts at B&T; and lower other fringe benefits and pension budgeted rates at MNR; and lower energy consumption at NYCT. Higher fees and higher MTA PD overtime vacancy coverage at MTA HQ partially offset those favorable results. Variances also reflect favorable due to expense timing: at MTA Bus, the timing of general maintenance material usage, professional services (including the roll-out of bus technologies), and claims expenses; at the LIRR, the timing of project activity; at FMTAC, the timing of insurance policy renewals and the recording of claims expenses; at B&T, the timing of non-labor expenses; at MNR, the timing of maintenance operating contracts and professional services; and at MTA HQ, the timing of expenses for the Rockaway bridges resident toll rebate program and the timing related pension amortization. These were partially offset by unfavorable timing impacts at NYCT in various non-labor expense categories.

Total	$80.7	$77.5	($3.2)	-4.1%

Overtime expense overruns at NYCT and MNR were primarily due to higher costs for vacancies and absentee coverages. MTA HQ was unfavorable mainly due to increased MTA PD vacancy/absentee coverage, partially offset by lower security needs requiring overtime. Partially offsetting these unfavorable results were favorable variances at the MTA Bus due to lower maintenance, sanitizing and unscheduled service requirements.

Debt Service

Debt Service for January was $272 million, which was $2 million (1%) unfavorable due to timing of debt issuance and debt service deposits, as well as higher than budgeted variable rates.
